DIVERSITY, EQUITY, INCLUSION, AND JUSTICE PROJECTS

Diversity Network Initiative I identified an unmet need to connect current and prospective PhD students from similar backgrounds. The DNI was created to build community and a professional network, share experiences, and provide insight into diversity and inclusion efforts at UCSF. Currently, seven basic science graduate programs participate in the Diversity Network Initiative. This initiative was developed in partnership with Dr. D'Anne Duncan, Asst. Dean of Diversity and Learner Success.

Uncovering Bias and Discrimination in Graduate Admissions As part of the Justice, Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Academic Leadership course at UCSF, I conceived and implemented a capstone project involving the analysis of admissions outcomes by race and gender and interviews with student DEI leaders to identify areas of improvement for recruitment and retention of students from marginalized background. This project was developed in collaboration with Dr. Elizabeth Silva, Assoc. Dean of Graduate Programs; Dr. Jeff Nicklas, Sociology; and Anna Lipkin, Neuroscience PhD Candidate.

Improving LGBTQ+ Inclusion in Scientific Conferences I developed guidelines to promote LGBTQ+ inclusion and safety at conferences. They include avoiding conference locations with anti-LGBTQ+ legislation, creating scholarships for LGBTQ+ students, offering LGBTQ+ affirming programming, and other aspects of inclusive design. These guidelines were endorsed by 15 chapters of a national organization, and were communicated to national leadership for consideration.
